55,000 Expected At Polls

Barnett and Arthur W. Siegel, the Republican choice.

For County offices, only one of those offices, that of sheriff, is currently being contested by the GOP.

For Clerk of Cook County, Democratic incumbent Edward J. Barnett faces Earl D. Eisenberg, brother of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

Incumbent F. J. Coleman is the Democratic choice for county assessor. He is opposed by Republican J. H. Fink.

Minor W. Wilson, administrative assistant to Chicago Police Commissioner Edward J. Wilson, is the Democratic choice for Sheriff. His opponent is Republican Joseph I. Woods, a former FBI agent and chief investigator for the Better Government Assn.

For county treasurer, the Democrats nominate Marshall Kornblat while the Republicans contend with Edward J. Kucharski.

Incumbent Noble J. Puffer is the Democratic choice for county superintendent of schools. He is opposed by Robert F. Harkness on the GOP side of the ballot.

Two new members will be elected to the Board of Appeals of Cook County, Democratic candidates are George M. Kane and Bernard J. Korman. Republican candidates are Eugene J. Czachinski and Donald J. Soder.

The race for president of the board of county commissioners has elicited a large amount of interest with two veteran political figures in opposition.

Harry H. Semrow, Chicago's former postmaster and a longtime favorite of the Chicago Democratic organization, is in a tough race for the key county post with Sheriff Richard M. Ogilvie.

Both men will probably be elected to the county board. Semrow from Chicago and Ogilvie from the suburban communities and unopposed areas comprising the city.

ONLY ONE, however, will be the board's president, responsible for the administration of the $70 million annual county budget and nearly 12,000 employees, most of whom are patronage workers.

The Republican slate of commissioners from outside Chicago include, in addition to Ogilvie, William N. Erickson, Charles F. Chaplin, Floyd T. Felle and Charles J. Grogg Jr. Felle is from neighboring Meigs Township.

Democratic commissioner hopefuls from the county towns include Edward Kapka, Leslie E. Johnson, Raymond O. Cox, Irving M. Drobny and Herman T. Konecna. Konecna is from Arlington Heights.

Most political experts predict that this is the year the Republicans will make inroads into the Chicago Sanitary District.

The district's personnel department has been riddled with scandal recently and just last week Victor Becca, the district's general superintendent, accused the legal department of making over a million dollars in questionable pay, suits to avert conviction.

Republicans have presented a slate of reform candidates. They are Eugene H. Dibble, Jr., George Thayer, Jr., Livermore and Gerald M. Marks.

Four Democratic incumbents and re-election. They are Frank W. Chazotte, president of the integrated board, Gen. Francis B. Kane, John B. Brandt and Earl A. Deutsch.

Two Issues On Council Agenda

John A. Graham is the Republican choice over Democrat James Nelson for state

Graham is from Herrington. Nelson, an attorney, is a resident of Elk Grove Village. He is a member of Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships, and is a member of the Board of Supervisors of Meigs Township.

Three representatives to the Illinois general assembly will be named to represent the district in the house.

REPUBLICAN candidates are Eugene F. Schlickman and David J. Regner.

Schlickman, an Arlington Heights attorney, is seeking his second term. He is also Wheeling Township's Republican commissioner.

Regner of Mount Prospect, a member of the Elk Grove town board of auditors, has seeking his first term in the house.

The two Democratic candidates are both incumbents. They are Eugene C. Chapman, Arlington Heights and Bernard Puff, Northbrook.

He is survived by his wife Dorothy, a son Eugene R. of San Francisco, a daughter Bonnie Louise of Arlington Heights, and a sister Emma Freeman of Duquesne.

Visitors may call at the Harkness Funeral Home in Arlington Heights. Services will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. in St. Peter Lutheran Church with the Rev. Robert O. Hart, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery in Arlington Heights.

A memorial fund has been established by the family for St. Peter Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights.

Some Day

Wednesday you can turn on your radio again. Then it will be the day after election.

People are captives of their radios in certain times during the day. One is when they are riding along in the car. The other is when the television set goes kaput.

The last-minute flurry of political announcements is enough to make a motorist drive in silence. Two campaigns have been particularly annoying to listeners.

First, Mr. Sen. Dan Rostenkowski, Democratic candidate for president of the Cook County Board, is speaking the air waves with a spot commercial filled with threats. The announcer asks everyone why they are cheering.

"It for Senor," is the reply. But one fellow is not cheering.

"Why aren't you cheering, fellow?" asks the announcer. "I am Senor," the fellow replies.

The words me. Why is not Senor cheering? Doesn't he want to be president of our county house? This he found out he cannot build all those takes he promises?

Did he learn that his proposed countywide garbage plan is not adequate for all the rubbish in the suburbs?

People will have to ask themselves if they can vote for a man who says that.

The other announcement is for the Republican candidate for Cook County clerk. It starts by asking everybody if they remember those happy Easter-bunny years. It suggests that the nation needs peace and financial responsibility.

... by Frank E. Von Arx

provided by the great general Dwight David Eisenhower. Considering the fact that the candidate is Dan Rostenkowski, it is not surprising that the candidate is Dwight's brother.

People will have to ask themselves if they can vote for a man who says that.

It is almost worth the temptation to ask Earl's bluff. It is almost worth the temptation to ask Earl's bluff.

We are still betting on a "pick and choose" election.

"Excuse me. Did you know that Americans spend $3 billion a year on dogs?"

Re-elect Rumsfeld

Rumfeld has exhibited a sense of service that should be rewarded. Citizens who have communicated with the congressman have seldom failed to receive a responsive answer. On several occasions Rumfeld or his staff has gone out of their way to provide people that service.

One instance that comes to mind now is the congressman's opinion survey of residents in his district. A woman in Des Plaines wrote a letter to the editor commending that the received no questionnaire. Soon after the letter was printed, a member of Rumfeld's staff was busy being to it that the woman was given an opportunity to express her views.

This attention to detail is apparent in much of Rumfeld's work in Washington. It is the type of effort that makes outstanding legislators the kind of representation our district needs.

In tomorrow's election The Day urges that you return Dan Rumfeld to the northwest suburbs continue their record pace of development.

Wanderlust

It seems quite logical that Americans trip, report travel and tourism authorities. They also spend about $15 per capita on travel, which is more than any other country in the world. They also spend about $15 per capita on travel, which is more than any other country in the world.

Vantage Point

The question will be answered tomorrow. Will Clark Perry defeat Paul Douglas for U.S. Senate?

Will Eugene Chapman steal off Bernard Packer's determination of challenge for a seat in the Illinois house?

Will Richard Ogilvie become the next president of the Cook County Board?

Will the Democratic Party take the political bull by the horns in the City of Chicago?

Time is, or read in, Wednesday, an action-packed, election news filled edition of The Day.

Day reporters will cover every aspect of the race, from the last night of the campaign to the early morning of election day.

WE HAVE gone out on the line and made our predictions. If our guesses, or perhaps we should say well-informed predictions, are correct, our predictions will be labeled as lucky. If they are wrong, they always know we were paid.

That's the chance a political reporter must take. Just being the second choice of the "well-informed prediction" is made.

PERCY vs. DOUGLAS has produced Percy by at least 100,000.

OGILVIE vs. SENOR has produced the winner, by a wide margin.

STEVENSON vs. ROWE: Stevenson, but this one is going to be close.

BARETT vs. EISENHOWER: Barett, don't be surprised if he leads the ticket.

Those are the races we predicted.

Refeshing Vote Switch

I certainly enjoyed Mr. McGowan's tongue-in-cheek reasoning in favor of Republican voters for the Democratic state representative.

His generous and bipartisan attitude toward McGowan, especially for a long-time Democrat, I presume his thinking extends beyond our local district.

Since his Democratic candidate for county treasurer and county assessor are said to be members of election, I must be inclined of election, I must be inclined of election, I must be inclined of election.

CLOSER TO HOME, Republican John Graham will have little trouble defeating Mayor Nelson in the 3rd congressional district. Inevitably, the Republican will win again.

PERCY vs. DOUGLAS has produced Percy by at least 100,000.

OGILVIE vs. SENOR has produced the winner, by a wide margin.

Page Defended On U.S. Aid To Education

Editor: Donald Price, the Democratic candidate for U.S. House of Representatives, has criticized Ray Page, the Republican incumbent, because he charges Illinois now ranks last in the union in the federal educational program.

Price is quoted as charging that Page turned back 93 percent of the federal money for vocational education, a total of $1,500,000.

I asked Page about these allegations and he said that Illinois is not a member of the federal educational program.

Is It Style Or Madness?

RIGHT -- The hood is Mod, the look mammoth in these garments by L.L. of Irvingdale Place.

Is Mod mad? That question -- trivial though it may be -- has split London into two camps. One group insists that Mod is "disruptive, ugly, a sign of the decadence of our times." The other insists that Mod is a healthy sign of the collective mind saying that "it's the only lively thing in decaying England."

Canary Street, where a Mod was born, is the object of so much saying these days that many merchants are flitting newspaper editors defending the trend in their display windows.

Who's right? To answer that question, it's necessary to set the calendar back about 10 years. In those days, London stores were known for sturdy tweeds and colorful British woolsens, perhaps the finest wool clothing in the world.

But styles were, in the words of the fashion writer, "dumpy, uniformly matronly and often utterly repulsive."

In those days, it's a matter of record that the fashionable English woman shopped in Paris, Rome -- and just about every other place except London.

The well-to-do set also had money to spare. To them, from whom they could buy any style they liked, the working women rebelled. This came Mary Quant and style.

It was style that every woman would like, of course, but the new look had style.

No longer were dresses and suits just practical and neat. No longer were coats just something to keep off the chill. Now clothes had a definite cut, a definite line, a sort of fabric signature.

UNLIKE exclusive Parisian designers, Miss Quant and those who came with her made clothes for the girl who worked in an office and earned perhaps $200 a week.

The young girl who worked in an office and earned perhaps $200 a week. The young girl who worked in an office and earned perhaps $200 a week. The young girl who worked in an office and earned perhaps $200 a week.

Arlington Eleven Closes Campaign With Romp Over Glenbrook South

Arlington's Brad Summers (14) gets tackled by a pair of Glenbrook South defenders during Friday's season-ending game at Glenbrook. Arlington's win left the Cards with a 7-1 season record.

BY BOB CASTELLINE
Arlington closed out the 1966 football season Friday with a 46-13 win over Glenbrook South, and perhaps it's just as well the teams are so far apart.

Judging by the Big Red's showing against their Central Suburban League rivals, there is nowhere for the Cards to go but down.

The GAME belonged to Arlington from the beginning, as evident from the 30-0 first - period score. The beleaguered hosts ran off only 13 plays for 41 yards in the first period while the hungry Cardinals were having ripping runs on route to their first touchdowns.

The win wrapped up a successful season for the Big Red, who reign as co-champions of the Mid-Suburban League with Maine West. The only bluish on the Cardinal record is a 14-14 tie against in warlike with Maine. The rest of the Arlington record carries seven wins - mostly by lopsided scores.

FRIDAY'S non-league action was a good one for the Cardinals, as they showed their prowess by halting, when Arlington was downed 13-0 in a strong showing in the third quarter by Glenbrook East. Allen's conversion was off of hand, and even then, the Cardinals were in the third period.

The quarter illustrated the Cards' ineptness. They used only three running plays and one pass in the entire 12 minutes. The Cardinals led 46-13 at the end of the game. One touchdown came on a 67-yard sprint by fullback Dick Wade, and the other came on an 86-yard kickback by Jerry English after the 11-minute period. The Cardinals led 46-13 at the end of the game.

SEVEN PLAYERS earned six or more points in the game. They were: Dick Wade, 10 points; Jerry English, 10 points; Tom Beattie, 10 points; Dick Wade, 10 points; Jerry English, 10 points; Tom Beattie, 10 points; Dick Wade, 10 points.

Eight plays with quarterback Jerry Gregg running out for the final six yards. A pass attempt on the corner of 11 in rain, but the touchdown and the Cardinals' lead of 13-0.

DAVE LOCKWOOD returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdown on the 19-yard line. The Cardinals led 20-0 at the end of the first quarter.

THE SADNESS was caused by the Cardinals' failure to score a touchdown in the fourth quarter, but a pass attempt by Allen was intercepted by the Cardinals.

A 21-yard pass put the Cardinals in the end zone. The Cardinals led 27-0 at the end of the second quarter.

Maine West Spills Wildcats' Best Grid Season

BY BOB CASTELLINE
The most successful season in the Wheeling High School football history ended on a fumble Saturday as the Wildcats bowed to Maine West 15-7.

The loss, only the second since the team's inception, was a bitter pill for the Wildcats. The team had been undefeated in the first 11 games of the season, and the loss was a blow to the team's confidence.

BOTH OF THE Wildcats' defense came at the hands of the champions, but the Wildcats' defense was not as good as it had been in the past. The Wildcats' defense was not as good as it had been in the past.

STILL, THE ONLY one who was not a serious threat for the Wildcats was the Cardinals' defense. The Cardinals' defense was not as good as it had been in the past.

Joy, Sadness Mixed After Final Card Grid Triumph

BY BOB CASTELLINE
There was some sadness mixed with the joy in the Arlington football team's locker room after last Friday's crushing 46-13 romp over Glenbrook South.

THE PLAYERS had expressed their feelings about the season's end. They were happy to have won the season, but they were also sad to see the season end.

THE COACH Allen seemed to be in a state of shock. He had led the team to a 7-1 record, but he was now facing the reality of the season's end.

A white cloth sign in the front row of De LaSalle's cheering section told the story, "Memento No. 17" in red and black letters.

The Mementos were number one in the Chingstone Prep League when they went into Sunday's game with St. Victor and they emerged conquerors.

THE LIONS led 12 to 12 at halftime but DeLaSalle established their superiority in the last two periods as they rolled off three touchdowns to win 31-12.

The last St. Victor into four plays in the second quarter and two was and three. The Mementos are unbeaten in five conference games.

It is a long trip to Arlington Heights from DeLaSalle's home field on Chicago's south-west side, and even longer if you are riding a bus taking rounds after losing your last game of the season.

The Lions must have spent most of this trip last week thinking about a six foot half-back with the number 25 written across his white jersey.

The halfback's name is Tom Shinnick. He scored four touchdowns against the Lions.

THE TEAMS traded punts and just when things seemed to be going well for the Lion, Mementos quarterback Mick Wagner uncorked a 53 yard touchdown pass to fullback Al Brown.

In took St. Victor 12 plays and 70 yards for its second score. Junior Dennis Palibicki scored on a quarterback sneak from the one but a pass caught by Bob Stevens set the score.

With only 1:50 remaining in the game, a punt by a partially blocked Palibicki put set up Mementos' second score. After a DeLaSalle lineman recovered the punt on the 40 yard line, it took Wagner only one play to find Shinnick alone in the end zone and the score stood 13-12.

THE SECOND half belonged mainly to the Mementos. They rushed for 191 yards while holding St. Victor to a stony 40.

The Lions tried to rely on passing attack but just did not do it. Palibicki attempted 14 passes in the half but could complete only four for a total of 24 yards. From work, two passes were intercepted.

For DeLaSalle, Shinnick carried the load. In the half he picked up 94 yards, many on crucial third downs.

THE LIONS made their only scoring opportunity late in the final period when a Palibicki pass from the 14 yard line was intercepted.

This was only moments after Lin Cook took St. Victor fullback over to the sideline and whistled in a voice barely audible from the sidelines.

Every once-in-while something nice happens to a sports-writer that brings a warm glow to his heart and a cheery smile to his face. It happened to me the other day - I was made an honorary member of the Elk Grove High School Marching Band.

I have't been this excited since I was made an honorary member of Alcoholics Anonymous.

The way came from Donald Thomas, the Elk Grove Principal. The honor was so flattering it was not hard to ignore his comment that the band is so short of members that they're asking anybody they can get.

About the only thing left for me now is ADC's Member of the Year award.

ARLINGTON and Prospect high schools will present fall sports awards to their star athletes almost immediately upon completion of the fall season.

Arlington will hold its Fall Sports Night program Tuesday and Prospect will have its annual Fall Sports Banquet Wednesday.

Dick Walker, head coach of Glenbrook South, is a resident of Arlington Heights, and has played two of the village's three prep teams this season. He is a resident of Arlington Heights.

Wrestling
It was a good game, the boys replied, "but we had to call it in the second quarter. The parents were dying."

Do you hear about the high school team which got a first down on the opponents' offensive line and then kicked a field goal? Here's what happened.

On the opening kick-off, the receiving team ran the ball all the way to the kicking team's three-yard line, where he was tackled. On the hit, though, the ball carrier slid across the goal line.

THE KID, THE COACH, and the crowd figured it was a touchdown, and the officials placed the ball at the one. The coach sent in his conversion team and the "extra-point" was kicked. Then came the discovery - the officials had not ruled a touchdown, but a first down at the one!

A number of readers have asked about our policy regarding coverage of football, basketball, and junior varsity sports at area high schools.

We will continue our practice of reporting all scores of prep action, but will limit our in-depth coverage to varsity teams except for special situations.

Because the varsity teams are the official representatives of the schools in this area, they deserve the fullest coverage we have. Athletics at the sub-varsity level all have a chance at making the varsity teams, and despite the small number of coverage in order to beef up our sub-varsity coverage would be like covering the White Sox farm teams during the major league baseball season.

Exceptions may be made for special events, such as tournaments or play-off competition, or for special individual accomplishments. At the end of each sports season we will try to recap the sub-varsity team records, and we hope to print photos of championship teams.

Donald Rumsfeld

is achieving the national stature this District deserves from its Representative in Congress

Donald Rumsfeld was elected to the House of Representatives in 1962. He is a respected member of the House COMMITTEE ON SCIENCE AND ASTRONAUTICS, charged with legislative responsibility for the manned lunar landing and other NASA space research programs.

As a member of the House COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS, which has "watch-dog" jurisdiction over almost all activities of the Federal Government, Donald Rumsfeld serves as an active and influential force on the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations and Government Information, and as the ranking Republican on the Subcommittee on Legal and Monetary Affairs.

He was named to the House REPUBLICAN POLICY COMMITTEE in July, 1966, one of the youngest members to serve on this committee that formulates policy for House Republicans.

He creates legislation and leads with ideas

Donald Rumsfeld was one of the key leaders in passing the long overdue "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION" bill, and he co-sponsored the HUMAN INVESTMENT ACT to encourage private enterprise to train workers in new skills. He has also introduced legislation (1) to help solve air and water pollution problems, (2) for Congressional reform and ethics, (3) for tax credits for parents for partial costs of education expenses.

Rumsfeld is regularly interviewed on VOICE OF AMERICA programs

Donald Rumsfeld is one of three Members of the U.S. House of Representatives who regularly participate in Voice of America broadcasts. These broadcasts are translated into 35 languages and are beamed all over the world.

A key member of the Congressional team investigating waste in U.S. aid to Viet Nam

This inquiry by the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations and Government Information has already brought specific reforms in the management of U.S. non-military aid funds to Viet Nam and substantial dollar savings to the American taxpayer.

Don Rumsfeld is exceptionally well qualified to represent this District

Born and raised in the 13th District, he attended Winnetka public schools and graduated from New Trier High School and Princeton University. He was a Navy pilot and flight instructor for over 3 years; an investment broker; and served on the staffs of two Congressmen in Washington, D.C. ## Pay Bus Plan Popular In Elk Grove

"Pay bus" plans are proving popular for transporting Dist. 59 children to Grove Junior High School and Queen of the Rosary Parochial School in Elk Grove Village.

From last service (provided daily) by substitute for five years stopped Nov. 1 for children living less than 1 1/2 miles from school to an area bounded by Higgins Rd. on the north, Oakton St. on the south, Arlington Heights Rd. on the west, and Watkinson Lane on the east.

The original decision to discontinue bus service drew parent protests, and in recognition of the situation.

At the Oct. 17 board meeting, a "pay bus" plan was adopted.

The board learned Monday that:

- 37 families standing Queen of the Rosary School, who ride the pay bus. A total of 37 children are involved in the plan.
- 17 miles from school to the bus stop.

Dist. 59 will continue to provide bus service to 10 homes in the Rosary school area with 22 children and 20 Grove Junior High School, who ride the pay bus. A total of 37 children are involved in the plan.

Dist. 59 Board Talks Finances

Financial matters kept Dist. 59 board members busy Monday.

The board approved the issuance of $200,000 in Transportation Fund tax anticipation warrants, which interest at 4.25%.

They began plans to sell $400,000 worth of bonds and holding bonds in December. These bonds, part of the $1,450,000 referendum that voters approved in October, 1965, will be used to finance improvements to Ridge School in Elk Grove Village and Robert Frost School in Mount Prospect and for other improvements.

They accepted low bids for $4,160.40 worth of hand instruments, including 100 music stands, several horns, a bassoon, and three brass drums.

They awarded the purchase of $1,274 to the Humble Oil and Refining Company, who will replace Albert Einstein School in Des Plaines with oil. The company will also provide the 4,000 gallons of oil remaining in the tank in the new Junior High School in Mount Prospect, and the tank in the Einstein School without charge.

And they began studying their successful bond referendum of last fall. Further details of this, and a comparison of current construction costs with referendum estimates will be presented by the administrator Nov. 22 at the next board meeting.

Members of the board in Dist. 59 include: Dempster Junior High, Robert Frost, and Forest View Elementary. Arlington Heights has one school in the district—Julius L. New Houses Are Damaged

Scarsdale Annexation Talks In 'Serious' Stage

Emergency Manual Presented

Tornado warnings, fire drill procedures, and bomb case emergency are covered in School Dist. 59's new Emergency Procedures Manual, presented Monday to the board for their approval.

Jack Bickel, administrative assistant, updated the manual with the cooperation of the Elk Grove field and police departments.

Because the elementary district also has schools in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Des Plaines, Bickel also checked out fire drill procedures with chiefs in these municipalities.

"We average at least one fire drill a month," acting superintendent Ludwig Bickel said.

No advance notice of school fire drills is given on except in the case of fire drills.

NEW this is tornado alert planning in a link between the Elk Grove Village Board's township and the U.S. Weather Bureau at O'Hare Field. All tornado warnings will be relayed by the police to the superintendent's office, and school principals will carry instructions to individual classrooms.

On the road four school companions, Monroe, Carroll, Duane and International Salt, submitted bids of $12.80 a ton. Since all bids were the same Village Manager L.A. Hanson put the four names in a hat and drew one. International Salt was the draw and a $192,000 contract.

Last night Hanson asked the board members' approval for the deal. Board members were about to agree when a voice came from the back of the room.

"Was a minute, I want to say something."

A MUSKY, dark-skinned man stepped forward and he was Larry W. Wiggins, 102 N. Forest, and that he was the Mountain Salt Co.

"Before I say anything I want you to know I live in Arlington Heights and so do 16 other Mountain Salt employees," he said.

He said that other Mountain employees are going before village boards to get the same deal. He said that the worst suburbs are asking that the village they live in award salt contracts to their company.

Mayor John Woods said that Wiggins knew how the contracts were awarded in other municipalities.

Wiggins said he didn't know. "I wonder if they are desecrating it by the use of heads of how many residents living in the community work for this company."

Village Conducts Rock Salt Business Out of a Hat

It looked like price fixing but no one was willing to say so — at first it is.

Three times the village has asked for bids on 3,500 tons of rock salt. Three times all bids were identical.

On the road four school companions, Monroe, Carroll, Duane and International Salt, submitted bids of $12.80 a ton. Since all bids were the same Village Manager L.A. Hanson put the four names in a hat and drew one. International Salt was the draw and a $192,000 contract.

or that salt company," Woods recorded.

"AS FAR as I'm concerned there is no faster way to award a contract in this type of a situation," he said.

"If this is the kind of ball game the salt companies are playing for that's the way they'll have to play it," the village president said.

"I don't want to take this bid with a grain of salt," Trustee Roy Bruner said. "The fact is that this kind of situation is all."

About this time, another man stood up. This one wore a button-down blue shirt.

"This probably isn't the right time to say this," he said. "But I live in Arlington Heights."

He announced though that he was the only employee of Car-gill Company's salt division living in the village.

"My name is Dick Radermacher," he said. "All I want to do is say that we salaried men make more and that salt prices often are the same."

Sanitary Sewer May Start Ball Rolling

BY MILL PETERSON

Scarsdale Estates, a wealthy unincorporated area in the near South side of Arlington Heights, took a step toward sanitation last night.

The step was small but important.

For almost 40 years the subdivision has remained unsanitary. Last night the Scarsdale Estates Assn., presided by its president, proposed a plan that might bring residents of the area into the village sewer system.

The plan involves a half-hour approach. Approximately 60 per cent of the subdivision is in need of a sanitary sewer. The plan involves a half-hour approach. Approximately 60 per cent of the subdivision is in need of a sanitary sewer.

ABOUT three months ago the village engineering department made a feasibility study of the possibility of installing such a sewer.

The study showed that installing such a sewer would cost $44 per foot of the property owners' expense. Scarsdale Estates homeowners' expense would be $44 per foot of the property owners' expense.

"These participating homeowners have also indicated that at any time they ceased their homes to the sewer line they would be willing to annex their property to the village," Lockwood said.

"This could only be done where unincorporated property abuts village property that is bonded that shows several homeowners desire to join the village the idea will succeed."

Day Want Ad Moves a Car At Top Speed

Miss Sandra R. Cooper of Arlington Heights was pleasantly surprised with the results when she advertised her car for sale.

"I placed the ad for five days, with the idea of a week and probably had a car in another week," she said. "It was amazing! I received five calls the first day, and the next day the buyer called. The third day, he kept getting calls until I must have reached 25 calls. That certainly has proved me right and I plan to come bring the Day Publications for future use."

Many Happy Returns

By Catherine O'Donnell

St. Vincent football coach Joe Oliver and Mrs. Max Zimmarch seemed to be the life of the party at the football banquet held for the past district senior league football champions, the Rams.

Mrs. Zimmarch in a surprise speech from the floor thanked the coaches for their patience and for the fine season they had taught the boys through the season.

Coch Oliver, who had come directly from Vincent's last game of the season to the Ellis Club on Wilks rd., told the boys that even though the game was rough and sometimes discouraging, they must learn to win.

"Winning is a characteristic you can carry with you all through your life," he said.

The young Vincent coach invited all of the boys to stop at the school and visit him whenever they liked.

A football signed by all of the players was given to Gene Eshby who was voted the most valuable player by his teammates.

His dad, George Eshby, presented each of the boys with a copy of all the publicity they had received during their seasons, uncensored upon season.

The coaches for the team were Clyde Gardner, Maurice Louf and Jay Cannon.

The plus one is Joe Gardner, young son of Coach Gardner, who handled the equipment. Administration of the team is John Fells and Grant Peterson.

Northwestern Places Orders For New Cars

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. has placed orders for 16 new bi-level, air conditioned coaches at a cost of $2,786,000.

Ben W. Heintzman, Northwestern chairman, said the acquisition will mark the fourth and largest expansion of the road's suburban coach fleet since it was modernized five years ago.

"The purchase reflects our determination not only to keep pace with present suburban service requirements, but also to anticipate the needs of our riders a year from now," he said.

"The growing rider volume, which has been increasing for the fourth consecutive year, is a major factor contributing to our service operation on a completely self-sustaining basis," Heintzman said.

The new cars will be similar in design to the railroad's present fleet of 23 bi-level cars.

Sorority Seeks Used Glasses

Youngsters solicit discarded eyeglasses and eyeglasses for the current Delta Gamma Sorority campaign to benefit needy persons. John Shaw of Palestine (left) and Steven Landis of Mount Prospect try on eyeglasses.

Discarded eyeglasses and eyeglasses parts are being sought this month by members of the Northwest Suburban Alliance Chapter of Delta Gamma Sorority. Containers for donations are located in all local drugstores and are several brands and sizes.

The eyeglasses will be sent to New Eyes for the Needy, a nonprofit voluntary organization in Short Hills, N. J. The organization has helped more than a half million needy persons to see better.

garmenters are collecting used clothing for needy persons.

But it's difficult time to weed out those dresses, skirts and sweaters that you haven't used for a year or so and get them out of the way.

A thorough cleaning of your closet will provide - besides the exercise - a good insight into your wardrobe needs.

When those sweaters that don't match anything else in your wardrobe are gone, you can determine what you'll need for this winter season.

The same goes for dresses, which have a way of spending years in some of our closets without ever being worn.

If you've been saying "Well, maybe some day I'll get this enough to wear this again," or "Maybe some day I'll have a use for this," change your thinking.

It's that kind of thinking that builds up a space-wasting, unmanageable closet that can discourage you every time you go to hunt for a dress or outfit.

Parad down to a realistic few changes, your wardrobe closet can help you determine quickly the answer to the old question: "How what shall I wear today?"

It also can help you make your choices when you go shopping, because your needs will be obvious and you'll be less likely to impulse-buy.

One caution, though: If you find something really gaudy in your closet, like old slacks and skirts, sell them.

They'll come in handy during the next do-it-yourself project at your house.

Old-Fashioned Charm And Service

BY MARILYN HELLERS
"If you don't see it, ask for it. If we don't have it, we'll make it."

A cross-stitch sampler bearing these words was hung above the counter at Ma and Pa's Country Customs Store.

The store, tucked inside Ma & Pa's Country Candy Store in Arlington Heights, just opened its doors. Grand opening will be celebrated Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Ma & Pa's Country Customs Store is operated by Jane Johansen, a resident of Arlington Heights for 15 years. The interior of the store was designed and built by her husband Ed.

Mrs. Johansen said "The merchandise in the store is custom selected for the immediate suburban area."

THE INTERIOR of the store is charming. An old-fashioned stove has a coffee pot on top ready for customers. A quaint, antique well, an old-fashioned sewing machine has material samples for customers to make aprons, including a quilt.

The walls of the shop are decorated with pine-wedding art work for sale by area artists Barbara Houshonger, Ed Kahn, Helen Fisher, Ruthie Karlin and Christine Siegfried.

Merchandise for sale includes women's clothing, men's sport clothes, hand-knit articles, custom selected hats and purses, custom dresses and gift items for men and women.

State Approves 14 Library Systems

Secretary of State Paul Powell, who is also state librarian, has presented certificates of approval to directors of 14 library systems authorized by the Library Development Act passed by the 74th General Assembly.

The legislation provides $4.7 million in initial establishment grants to regional systems formed in compliance with area and population requirements and continuing annual grants based on area and population served.

The system plan, similar to one responsible for library development in New York, calls for a total of 21 systems for full state coverage. Each system has a headquarters, usually the largest library in the area, and individual public libraries may join the system.

One of these systems, the North Suburban Library System, recently was the subject of discussion after the Arlington Heights Library Board voted to become affiliated with it. Although some board members felt that the library would lose its autonomy by joining the system, it was generally agreed that affiliation would expedite the approval of a federal grant.

A grant for $248,000 was approved last week. According to Powell, under the new plan the state library will become a research and reference center and guide the member-libraries in the state.

A life-sized chuck wagon scene will be on display at Fame in Oklahoma City. The representation is being shown the Randhurst Shopping Center during the next four weeks, through the efforts of American Airlines. The display is on tour from the National Cowboy Hall of

Old West Goes On Display

Visitors to Randhurst Shopping Center during the next four weeks will be able to see a life-size scene from a typical cattle drive of the 1800's on display.

The presentation, brought to Chicago by American Airlines party at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame, Oklahoma City, features life-size figures of three cowboys and a horse around a chuck wagon, the rolling kitchen that provided the only semblance of home for cattlemen on the trail.

Built by the staff of the new $100,000 National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center, it will go on permanent display at the center in 1967.

Mayor Wants Drivers License Center in Rolling Meadows

Rolling Meadows Mayor William Minkas says he would like to see a "drivers license center" in his city.

Such a center should include a place where auto owners could purchase license plates, he says.

Minkas pointed out, "I'm only speaking for myself. I don't know what the city council thinks about the proposal."

He said he intends to present the proposition to the council in the near future.

If the council approves it, Minkas would notify Sec. of State Paul Powell that Rolling Meadows would like to be considered as a possible driver's license center.

Powell's office is in charge of all matters dealing with driver's licenses.

Powell's office currently is studying plans to locate a driver's license center in the Westgate shopping center. This center would not include a place to sell license plates.

Arlington Heights Village Manager E. A. Vianese and Westgate owners have voiced opposition to the plan because it would route drivers being tested through residential areas.

Minkas, too, opposes any plan that would route unlicensed drivers through residential areas.

Minkas says there is a great need for a license center in the area.

"I just despise the idea of having to go to Chicago to get my license plates and I've signed a lot of other people do this," he said.

"That's just putting too many people out."

Northwest Suburbanites now must travel to Livertown, Ill., or Chicago to be tested for driver's licenses.

Minkas suggested that a license center could locate in Eastbrook Shopping Center on Kishwaukee Rd.

"It's hard for Eugene, Education and Effort."
It was a combination of three that enabled Democrat Rep. Eugene Chapman to score as great a victory over four-term legislative veterans Bernard Peskin of Northbrook.

The race was a close one. With 160 of 205, 34 representing 16 percent in the legislative district representing, Mrs. Chapman, of Township that gave him a solid Arlington Heights, polled as unofficial 34,893 to Peskin's 23,711.

It was not until 1:45 a.m. that Peskin conceded that his margin piled up by Mrs. Chapman in Wheeling and Palatine townships was decisive.

"I've just can't overcome 66 precincts with only 19," Peskin said, conceding defeat. "I'm a Democrat and I'm a Democrat."

5,692 to 2,225 margin over his Democratic ticketmate.

THEORETICALLY, Peskin and Mrs. Chapman were ticket mates in precision, however, they were opponents and waged their campaign against each other.

In the predominantly Republican 16th district, two Republicans and one Democrat are elected to three seats in the Illinois House of Representatives.

Voters have three votes and may give them all to one candidate, a vote-and-half to two candidates or one vote to each of three candidates.

When a voter casts all three votes for one candidate, it is called a "bullet ballot."

Bullet votes were flying last night in Wheeling and Northfield townships and to a lesser extent in Palatine Township.

With 61 of 66 precincts reporting in Wheeling, Mrs. Chapman outpolled Peskin 1,346 to 503.

Peskin's margin in Northfield Township was not enough to offset the heavy Wheeling vote.

ICING on the cake for Mrs. Chapman came in Palatine Township where she defeated Peskin 4,890 to 4,202 with 29 of 33 precincts reporting.

In the other five townships encompassing the 16th district, voters played it straight, casting their ballots for the Democratic candidate as a straight ticket basis.

In Elmhurst Township where Congressman Chester Cheney defeated a bullet campaign, Mrs. Chapman received 627 votes to 621 for Peskin with 37 of 41 precincts accounted for.

Barrington Township, with four of six precincts counted, split 518 for Mrs. Chapman to 509 for Peskin. In Bushwood Township, unofficial returns from all 19 precincts showed a 627 vote margin for Mrs. Chapman and 503 for Peskin.

see two Democrats return to the Democratic ticket this year. "My desire is to be of service to the voters of this district and I sincerely appreciate their demonstrating their confidence in me by giving me this chance."

Mrs. Chapman will be serving her second term in Springfield. She was elected in 1964.

as a "blue ribbon" candidate on the Democratic ticket this year. "My desire is to be of service to the voters of this district and I sincerely appreciate their demonstrating their confidence in me by giving me this chance."

Her legislative interests include special emphasis in the area of education. She endorsed the junior college act and sponsored several bills on education.

Rep. Eugene Schlickman and Sen. Margaret, standing together and smiling. Schlickman was re-elected to the State House of Representatives by a large margin.

GOP Learns Again How It Feels To Win

By BILL PETERSON

Believe it or not, Republicans haven't forgotten how to throw a grand old party. Needless to say there are doubters. Some of them came to the 18th Grove Township Republican Headquarters last night.

"I can't remember being on a winning side before," one precinct captain said as he entered the four-room headquarters.

"That's what happens when you can't lose," said another. "You just don't know how to celebrate."

It was a grand night for Republicans everywhere. Republican in California, Percy in Illinois, Griffin in Michigan and so on across the map.

IT WAS impossible for even the mild-mannered Republicans to keep their cool. And they didn't.

At 7:15 p.m. the totals from nine precincts were in and Deputy Cassify, township township committee, was already ready, saying, "It's not going to be the '64'."

"You've never seen a place as hot as this. There wasn't a soul here at 7:30."

"We just sat here and moved."

There wasn't any moving last night. By 8 p.m. results from nine precincts were in and Deputy Cassify, township township committee, was already ready, saying, "It's not going to be the '64'."

One group of party faithful gathered around a 10-foot portable television, watching a third round, a refreshment table and, of course, another round of beer. The Republicans, not in a lot of time, were crowded into the hall.

THE PACK moved to the results came in. The TV screen declared him a winner before 7 p.m. and, as Reagan, Halliday and Rockefeller were not the Republicans who collect special runs.

To the show go the nation. Who could tell the white one that night, Regner, was elected to the state house of representatives.

"The whole thing is the result of what we learned in 1964. This victory is a team effort, a team effort."

"All this history about there being a split in our ranks is a bunch of hogwash."

Just as Hansen said, "This is the biggest celebration we've had since 1954." Sen. Paul Douglas made his concession speech.

The words were familiar but sincere. "Let us erase our differences," he said. "Nobody could have had more loyalty support than you have given me in the last eight years."

Only 11 party members stayed to hear Perry give his victory speech, but one got the impression that there is still some life left in the grand old party.

BEFORE midnight Congressman Carl Albertson congratulated his Illinois colleagues.

James Stevens, Wheeling Township Committee Chairman, left no doubt that he pulled out the stops to preserve Mrs. Chapman's victory.

There is a little question that the Chapman-Peskin race estimated a large number of Democratic voters in Wheeling Township, however, Mrs. Chapman's victory was the minority party from making big mistakes.

STILL to be determined by a study of the official returns is the effect that "Republicans for Chapman," an organization sponsored by the Registrar GOP organization in the 18th Grove Township, played in the outcome of the race.

The argument that Mrs. Chapman had heavy support from the education community, especially in areas of Wheeling and Northfield townships where educational issues are always an overhyped political issue.

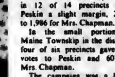

It is according to Mrs. Chapman, Peskin said that he had about 2,000 votes.

"I'm going to take a vacation from politics and get back into business to earn some money to pay for the campaign."

Mrs. Chapman said, "I'm not going to take a vacation from politics and get back into business to earn some money to pay for the campaign."

It was a night of the evening, as more and more votes rolled in and the country swung toward the Republican side, Mrs. Chapman seemed fairly to show the strength of a long campaign.

Added to her list, Schlickman had to tell the voters that he was not a Republican. "I'm a Republican," he said.

A familiar smile flashed across the face of Eugene Schlickman as he learned that Bernard Peskin had conceded to her in their race for the state house of representatives.

"I am most pleased," he said, "with the turnout of voters we had today. About 95 percent of the voters in the township turned out in spite of the rain."

THE CLIMATE to the excitement and high spirits came around 10 p.m. when Schlickman took the stage and proclaimed a Republican victory in Wheeling Township.

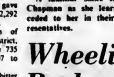

Cheney, opponent and party member, greeted the speaker.

At time wore on, the spouse on the bench became fewer, the crowd thinned out, the candidates left. What remained were a few hangers-on, a few latecomers, a few latecomers.

Board Approves Beauty Project

The Arlington Heights Woman's Club's railroad beautification project was given official go-ahead by the village board Monday.

The board approved an agreement with the Chicago & North Western Railway that gives the Woman's Club the "right to beautify three miles of railroad corridor" running along the railroad tracks through the center of the village.

Mr. Stephen Jacon, president of the club, said several organizations have pledged to help her group with the project.

She said the Woman's Club is celebrating its eighth anniversary in Arlington Heights. The beautification project is one of its major projects during its anniversary year.

The organization has 400 members.

THE CLUB plans to work with the village on the project. It has made preliminary arrangements to purchase some plants along the right way.

It hopes to clean up the tracks and make the area more attractive. Mrs. Jacon said the railroad had agreed to work with the club.

Some Day

... by Frank E. Von Arx

"Now that the election is over, the government can start its program to retain the lower," and Uncle John Blevins, persuasive, to the lower-class commissioner.

"It should be easy," said his friend Zerkus Fish. "You will notice we still have our schools and parks department. Just that people voted against (this is several references) it."

"It is, it always easy to retain a politician," said Uncle John. "Some of them (it is) the problem from their fathers."

"There are currently two schools of thought on how they should be retained. Some would say we should send them to Springfield or Washington to check on the situation. I doubt if the nation can afford to send them to Springfield."

"Sending both winners and losers may not be the solution," suggested Zerkus.

"The other school says we should keep them at home. There should be room for them in the legislature. It is a possibility to send them to election headquarters," said Uncle John.

"The trouble with this idea is that while we are planning many more books it is doubtful if there will be enough printed sheets for all the books. We also must investigate the situation. There are not enough times to review all the details of the past. We should be looking at the future."

"How about the railroad board?" suggested Zerkus.

"That should take care of the situation," said Uncle John.

"We will send the railroad candidates on how to get out of the way of commuter trains. They will never make the same mistake twice."

"The Woman's Club will appreciate the help in planting trees and shrubs on commuters' cars," said Uncle John.

"You must be careful," cautioned Zerkus. "That's why you need a railroad vote, and the Woman's Club will not let the carriers from the tracks and let them in."

"You must be careful," cautioned Zerkus. "That's why you need a railroad vote, and the Woman's Club will not let the carriers from the tracks and let them in."

Vantage Point

... by Jack Vandermyn

We predicted a "split and choose" election, and a "split and choose" election it was. As this is being written, at 3:30 the "morning after" it's still not over just yet. We will be the county sheriff. Or we will be the state representative of public instruction. Or we will be the state representative of public instruction. Or we will be the state representative of public instruction.

What does a reporter do on election day? It's simple. He goes out early in the morning and starts visiting precincts. We dropped in at 25 Elm Grove and 20 Whiting Township. We proceeded during the course of the day.

We got wet and we were cold. But one thing we did not get was hungry. On three cups of coffee and rolls were on our minds. We said the precinct was not a bad election.

For the most part, we were contented. On one, we were not. On the other, we were not. On the other, we were not. On the other, we were not.

NOT RESULTS. Just votes, we pointed out. At the day grew wet and cold and even later. At the end of the day, we were not. At the end of the day, we were not. At the end of the day, we were not.

He looks for a very long time, a reporter, and he finally, it all begins to take shape. It's over. The parties for the winners and the losers are the losers. The winners are the winners.

Results. At this time of the day. He looks for a very long time, a reporter, and he finally, it all begins to take shape. It's over. The parties for the winners and the losers are the losers. The winners are the winners.

Impressed By Attitudes Of Our Villagers

I am constantly amazed when evening and read the "village" of various areas of Arlington Heights. During the past few years I have been a resident of this area and, at 25 years of age, I am perhaps a little young to understand the full significance of the village.

One problem I am referring to is the debate which has been going on in the 30-year-old village to decide on the type of zoning which would allow the neighborhood and yet comply with village regulations. If I remember correctly, the discussion has been going on for more than a year and there is no agreement has been reached.

I am wondering what would happen if a child was taken to the street because the discussion has been going on for more than a year and there is no agreement has been reached.

Bah, Humberg

A report of a real-life plot against Christmas in England has come to our attention. Christmas is the British custom to America's Santa Claus and, just as in this country, each Christmas a number of men regularly find employment as Father Christmas in department stores and churches.

Now it seems that one Peter Yverness, a commercial artist in Liverpool, has been named as the same Father Christmas by the Register of Business Names. Claiming that the registration gives him the only title to the name, he plans to form a company called Father Christmas, Ltd. and to prevent anyone else from using the name by copyright arrangement with him.

The other Father Christmases are miffed, saying that it is a spirit of the season, and so exactly is a spirit of the season. The name is common property, they assert.

"It is quite ridiculous," says one. "What is the man trying to do? What about the children?"

The unimpressed Mr. Yverness says he isn't worried. "I have made the registration and I am creating the company solely to make myself the official Father Christmas. It is purely a business venture."

Father Christmas, Ltd.? Santa Claus, Inc.? Bah, Humberg!

Letters to the Editor

someone at one time have thought about sending an Eagle to Mental Health Hospital? Of course they would not force the village living on the street fronting the site of the Eagle's residence.

Instead of widening the street and sealing the numerous beauty of the area, the village decided to leave well enough alone and force hundreds of thousands of people to live in the village. The village decided to leave well enough alone and force hundreds of thousands of people to live in the village.

The traffic department did have the headlights, however, and the village decided to leave well enough alone and force hundreds of thousands of people to live in the village.

I wonder how many of the citizens realize that the village is not a village. The village is not a village. The village is not a village.

Northwestern Places Orders For New Cars

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. has placed orders for 16 new bi-level, air conditioned coaches at a cost of $2,794,000.

Ben W. Heineman, Northwestern chairman, said the acquisition will mark the fourth and largest expansion of the road's suburban coach fleet since it was modernized five years ago.

"This purchase reflects our determination not only to keep pace with present suburban service requirements, but also to anticipate the needs of our riders a year from now," he said.

"Our growing rider volume, which is being increased year, is a major factor contributing to our service operating on a completely self-sustaining basis," Heineman said.

The new cars will be similar in design to the railroads present fleet of 231 bi-level cars.

Civil defense supplies for the Mount Prospect area were stored at Randhurst Shopping Center Friday. Contents of one of the supply drums is examined by A.D. Carveland of the Randhurst Corp., E.K. Lorch of Carson Pipe Scott & Co., and Lt. Larry Palumbo of the Mount Prospect Fire Department.

Civil Defense Supplies Stored At Randhurst

Enough civil defense supplies to care for more than 11,000 people were placed in storage at the Randhurst Shopping Center Nov. 4, and the supplies are packed in drums and stored in spaces provided by the three major department stores - Montgomery Ward, Waldbaum's and Carson Pipe Scott & Co., and the Randhurst Shopping Center.

REVOLUTIONARY NEW WAY TO LEARN PIANO REALLY LEARN MUSIC

Parents who are interested in starting their 7 to 15 year-olds in a beginning music program are invited to see a demonstration of this new, simplified piano teaching system

8:00 p.m., Tues., Nov. 15 at Lyon-Healy in Randhurst Center

You will see the class at work. The children are not professional performers, but you might think so when you see and hear them in class. None of them has more than one year of lesson, and yet they can play impressively and answer difficult musical questions.

During this hour of study, they have mastered the basic fundamentals and can put them to practical use.

They know the principal chords and have learned how to make up pieces of their own. They have concepts on note-naming and drills on blackboard writing. They are testing their ears by systematic study and at this point can play short tunes or write them down, all by ear. Cooperation and friendly competition keep interest at a high level, and the results are amazing.

Survey Shows Tolerant Racial Attitude Here

Fewer than three in ten (26.7 per cent) of Arlington Heights residents interviewed in a random sampling indicated that they would not tolerate if "a Negro with a minimum education moved into their block."

The survey and eight days since racial attitudes in the north-west suburban community were revealed in a study conducted by Loyola University students under the direction of Dr. Paul Mundy, professor of sociology.

The survey was conducted under the sponsorship of the Arlington Heights Human Relations Commission.

Mundy will report on and analyze the results at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15, in the Foxboro Park Ballroom, Arlington Heights. The public is invited.

ONLY one person in 16 interviewed seemed doubtful, Mundy said in a preliminary report.

The was answered by such questions as: "Do you think you should have a good chance to share people to get any kind of a job?" Of Arlington Heights residents interviewed, 63.3 per cent answered "No."

According to Mundy, "A strikingly large number—35 per cent—disagreed with the statement that 'White people have a right to keep their own neighborhoods if they want to, and Negroes should respect that right.'"

He reported that 35.5 per cent agreed with the statement, and the others had no opinion.

Among other findings:

"About four persons in every five (80 per cent) believe that 'white students and Negro students should go to the same school.'"

"About two of every three expressing an opinion (66.7 per cent) said the Arlington Heights school system should 'should seek to hire more qualified Negro teachers.'"

"About three in every four (75 per cent) believed that Negroes with the same education and training are as intelligent as whites."

MUNDY said the study was based on personal interviews made last spring in Arlington Heights by Loyola students. Eighty persons, almost equally divided between men and women, were questioned. He noted that this was a relatively

Police-Counselor Program To Begin

The police-counselor program for Forest View and Arlington Heights Schools is tentatively scheduled to begin Nov. 21 according to L.W. Calderwood, Chief of Police of Arlington Heights.

Calderwood in his monthly report to the village manager, said the principals and assistant principals for administrative services at the two schools have completed the interviewing of six applicants from Arlington Heights Police Department.

Principals of the schools indicated they were pleased with all of the applicants for the jobs.

L.S. Jannet, Forest View principal, said in a memorandum to Dist. 214 Superintendent Dr. Edward Gilbert, "I hope you can express to the Board of Education our pleasure in finding that all six applicants were well qualified, both by virtue of personality as well as training and by small sample and statistically sound. The results are considered as indicative of the community rather than of the 'findings.'"

However, the statistics accompanied in this report—figured parallel to those reported in a similar but larger survey last year in west suburban Wheaton.

Mundy, estimated on the high income level of the Arlington Heights area, where 46.1 per cent said they earned $15,000 or more annually. Politically, 58.7 per cent were Republicans, 15.5 per cent Democrats and 21.3 per cent independents.

Two of every three (66.7 per cent) said income for $12.5 per cent came from outside Arlington Heights.

At a moment of "white backlash" 28.5 per cent of those interviewed said they were less sympathetic in their feelings about Negroes than they were a year earlier. This had been before the Chicago area's "summer of discontent."

On the other hand, only 7.5 per cent believed that "Negroes should be satisfied with their present lot in life." Fifty per cent disagreed.

HOWEVER, 71.8 per cent of those interviewed said that "Negroes shouldn't push themselves where they're not wanted."

On the question regarding acceptance of Negroes as neighbors, there was little difference in the answers according to religious affiliation: 26.9 per cent of Catholics and 27.4 per cent of Protestants were favorable.

There was also little difference according to income: under $10,000, 36.3 per cent favorable; $10,000 to $14,999, 26 per cent; and over $15,000, 28 per cent.

"Educated (21.4 per cent favorable) were somewhat more tolerant than Republicans (13.9 per cent unfavorable).

There was a remarkable difference, however, in attitudes according to the age of the respondents. Among those under 30 years old, only 20 per cent indicated they would object to Negroes as neighbors. Among those over 50, the percentage soared to 50 per cent.

Praises Armed Forces In Vet Day Message

The text of President Lyndon B. Johnson's Veterans Day Proclamation reads:

"Since the birth of the republic more than a half a million Americans have died for this country on the fields of battle. Millions more have placed themselves as a living shield between their country and her enemies, emerging unscathed from the bewilderment of a mortal combat."

"We have not side one day of the year to honor the dead, the living whose actions have instilled in their courage and devotion to country. On Veterans Day, we honor their sacrifice, and we give thanks for their service, and their share, if only briefly and inadequately, the grief of loved ones who survive them."

"We have preserved our freedom only through the continued willingness of brave men and women to risk the sacrifice of their lives for its sake. We honor those who were the soldiers in days past, and those who were it today. Especially this year our thoughts go out to the hundreds of thousands who are resisting the forces of aggression and violence in Viet Nam, and we can never repay our debt to them, for it is beyond price, but we can show our recognition of the gift they have made to our country. We can pay tribute to the nobility of men, as it is expressed in a soldier's courage. To this end, the Congress has designated Nov. 11 as a legal holiday to be known as Veterans Day."

"I direct the appropriate officials of the government to arrange for the display of the flag of the United States on all public buildings on this day. I order that this day may be marked in observance in accordance with all full respect and meaning. I request officials of the federal, state and local governments, and civic and patriotic organizations, to give their enthusiastic leadership and support to appropriate public ceremonies throughout the nation."

"I also urge all citizens, and particularly students in our schools, colleges and universities and other young citizens whose contemporaries are continuing to support at great personal risk the ideals of freedom and peace, to take part in these ceremonies to demonstrate to all the world their support of those who fight today, as well as their loyalty to those who have borne the battle for these ideals in previous times."

Government Concept Is Discussion Topic

The concept of local government structure of government in Illinois and municipal services will be discussed at the local League of Women Voters general meeting.

The meeting will be at 8:15 a.m. Nov. 16 in the Congressional Church, Kenilworth and Kenilworth, Arlington Heights. They are members of the League.

The committee is taking an overall look at planning in the Chicago metropolitan region. I hope to be able, after a two-year study, to determine if there is a need for coordinated planning.

Line meetings in May will finish the study. Other members of the committee are Mrs. George Schneider, chairman, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Roger Tobin, Oak Park.

Some Day

Wednesday's mail — the one that came the day after election — informed the editor that Charles H. Percy will campaign for 18 hours on Monday, including a swing through suburban shopping centers.

Agree who wants to see the man who ran for the U.S. Senate might hurry over to the Fairview Plaza at Fairview Rd. and Illinois St. 9:30 a.m. and see if Percy has arrived. He was due at Rushmore at 10:15 a.m.

Now that Percy is elected, he and Rep. Donald Rumsfeld can strategize on the mail.

One of the election voters reports a trend in the judicial election. It was three yes and two no.

That is about as people know about their judges. The voters on retaining judges. Not one in 100 knows enough to vote intelligently on the members of the bench.

A woman voter complained about the difficulty in voting for a write-in candidate on voting machines. There were a number of write-in elections last night and the same problem.

It seems the machines have a lever and a button that must be pushed in order to enter the paper for a write-in. People may never know how many voters considered it too much trouble.

The woman is right when she says that the time the write-in vote might be more important locally. The machine operation should be simplified or plainly illustrated.

Now that the candidates are ready to serve, let them consider the latest monthly report from the Arlington Heights Police Department for this month. It was 36 less children on the street. Only 27 "hand" calls were reported. What happened to the other 37?

Last year there were 270 kids and only 10 found kids. At this rate we could run out of kids some day.

Wouldn't that be a disaster?

Vantage Point

... by Jack Vandermyn

If they give better averages to political prognosticators, we would be winning in the Bush-Rock case.

While the Vantage Point did not hit a home run, it did pick the outcome of most of the state and county races in Tuesday's general election.

Many times, a political writer must put his own personal opinion aside to take an objective look at the races he is covering.

Certainly, we thought that Charles Percy's victory margine was outstanding over Paul Douglas, however, it was not enough to pull the rest of the state ticket to which him.

Thus, the Republicans apparently have only one state office in Springfield, that of Superintendent of Public Instruction. In the state prison, the Republicans are the doubt that the state's office is more practical than the less practical. Practically, the Republicans have lost the jobs involved. More progress.

Neither the treasurer nor the senator, however, have a great deal of patronage at their disposal, although Percy will probably be able to find a job for a few friends or campaign workers.

One of Treasurer William Scott's programs was to make many of the jobs in the treasurer's office as state jobs. Under the new state ticket, under his plan, it is laudable — but it is still important.

If Richard Ogilvie, as president of the county board, takes the same attitude towards patronage, some long-term political workers may have to become just the workers.

Here's how we predicted the outcome of Tuesday's election.

PERCY vs. DOUGLAS. We called it Percy by 100 votes. We were right but a little short.

PERCY vs. ROUSE. We called it Rouse by 100 votes. We were right but a little short.

PAGE vs. PRINCE. We called it Page. We were right but a little short.

CHAPMAN vs. PESHIN. We called it Peshin, razor close. It was close, but it was Chapman.

OGILVIE vs. SEMROW. Ogilvie was the prediction.

KUCHASKI vs. KORSHAK. Our choice was Korshak, but Edmond Kochanowski was the winner.

BARNETT vs. EISENHOWER. Barnett proved that his name was in his Cook County office was the prediction.

CULLERTON vs. FIELDS. Fields went to get in this one close — and did it real close — but he did not win.

WILSON vs. WOODS. We called it Woods by 100 votes. It was right but a little short.

WILSON vs. WOODS. We called it Woods by 100 votes. It was right but a little short.

We WONT take credit for calling Rumsfeld over McCall or Jack Graham over Norman Nelson. That would be to take credit for the inevitable.

Still, we came up with a record of 100% in the state races. We were right but a little short.

WE UNDERSTAND that President Johnson is still so convinced that the voters have abandoned his great society. His services reported no action from the President as of Tuesday noon.

One report said he was still waiting for the result vote to be counted and did not think the election was over.

Election, 1966 is now over. The results are in. The state has a great political tradition. The results are in. The state has a great political tradition.

"I'll bet you two are interested in a perceptive blend of modern and traditional"

Driver's Observations

A motorist who makes a practice of noting such things has returned from an extended tour with these observations:

* Traffic is not only growing steadily heavier but steadily faster. Our traveler kept tabs in one three-mile stretch of expressway. Zooming along at the maximum legal speed, he was passed by 32 cars, three large trucks and a bus. Some of them made him feel as though he was standing still.

* Frequent warning signs that the roads were rated-patrolled said that speed limits were strictly enforced were greeted with enthusiastic indifference by motorists.

* Women are driving just as fast and just as recklessly as men. This, our observer says wasn't the case a few years ago.

* Only a few of the cars traveling at dangerous speeds were new, expensive models. Most were several years old, or lower-priced models several years old.

And they weren't all driven by young people.

* He was intrigued to find that time after time his steady, win-at-all-costs motorist had to catch up with his behinders who has passed him with a whoosh miles back. He doesn't know how it could happen but it did.

* Many of the reckless drivers he saw were mothers or fathers with kids in the car.

* The most common traffic annoyance he endured was tailgating — even on the expressways. It is definitely the "in" thing in bad motor manners.

Our traveler returned home convinced that the one thing that could make motor travel more pleasant is a little more courtesy between drivers. He said it was wonderful to see what happened when motorists gave another driver a break — especially when it was accompanied by a smile.

* He might have added that the same formula works fine in other things, too.

Schools Everywhere Face Big Problems

(Reprinted from the Greenville (Mich.) Daily News)

Some idea of the widely varied problems that confront educators may be gained by looking at the recent week. It soon becomes evident that, for diversity of complexity, these problems surpass anything in the past.

Los Angeles, with a school system second in size only to that of New York City, must cope with rising minority percentages, the addition of 1,000 children per month, the need to find 3,000 new teachers each year. Text educators continue the search for better methods of teaching non-English-speaking children. The idea of a state that designates English as the only language to be used in the schools.

Eastward in Mississippi, the Head Start program started financial collapse and charges of "political expediency" flew. At a meeting of college administrators in New Orleans, American schools were lambasted for lacking "able, imaginative and innovative direction."

Up north in Boston, the School Committee and a second of racial injustice in reclassifying as white children of Chinese extraction.

The difficulties of teaching modern mathematics are such that throughout the nation, educators are subscribing to programs devoted to this subject. Miles away across the Pacific, American educators and teachers are trying to understand something of the varied and chaotic changes without over-Americanization.

It is of vital importance that criticism of the schools be voiced. But it is essential, too, that the critics understand something of the varied and difficult problems educators face today.

Spring Is Dazzling, Fall Can Be, Too

Spring shrubs in full bloom make a dazzling display but the fall garden can also have its own beauty.

While usually not as brilliant as spring, distinct colors of fall shrubs are just as interesting when contrasted with the fall landscape.

A good example of a plant with fall interest is the American wisteria. It's of special interest because it's the last shrub to bloom in the fall. Bloom time can occur from late September to early October. Cal branches of the yellow-orange flowers and seed pods can be brought in to the house for woodland arrangements. The seed pods which stay on the shrub until fall open in the wisteria. The sharp report of the exploding pods is of considerable amusement to children.

The which hand will thrive in shade, but the blooms are most spectacular in full sun.

becomes deep maroon. After the leaves have fallen the reason for the splendor is the reason for the fall garden. It is at this time that the long curly ribbons or ribbons along each twig become apparent. The ribbons which are two to four in number give the branches a somewhat linear corrugated effect. The shrub may be used as a dense twiggy hedge, as a winter container, or in a winter garden. The pointed branches of the shrub make it interesting at all seasons.

An even smaller winter container is the coral-red shrub, also called of Harry Land's, which is only grown to five feet high, it is an excellent accent in a winter garden. The pointed branches of the shrub make it interesting at all seasons.

The ripple effect in stems and branches give it an interesting fall and winter interest.

Howard Haire's Father Dies

Ray D. Haire, 62, of 1212 E. Second St., Berwyn, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Franklin Boulevard Community Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred, a nee Howard of Arlington Heights, director of the Home Funeral Home, three grandchildren, Sally, Kathy and Jeff, a brother, Elmer J. of Melrose, and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Kahan of Glendale, Calif.

Funeral services will be held at the Whitehead - Wheeler - Saxon Funeral Home, 303 Logan Ave., Berwyn, at 10 a.m. Monday. Mr. Haire was in state at the Home Funeral Home in Arlington Heights last night.

Day by Day

Crazy Cat Harvey

There's nothing Harvey does or likes to do more than bring home baby rabbits. If Harvey had longer ears he could very easily pass for a rabbit. But Harvey is not. Sixteen pounds of fighting cat who thinks he's a rabbit, he is distinguished by all his black head and a black and brown around his eyes. Harvey belongs to Charles and Helen Linde of Rolling Meadows.

Whenever Alice talks about Harvey, she has to be careful. When she says, "Harvey's done home last night" to an unknowing listener, it sounds like a marital quarrel.

When she talks about some of the things he does, she has to be careful because they're hard to believe until she talks about the second cat in the family. Inc. has been a happy possession of the Linde for 12 years. She still isn't sure that Harvey belongs to the same house with her, even after his nine years as a star boarder.

Inc. and Harvey have their own little den in the bottom part of the back door of the house. They usually answer a call to come home but once in awhile, they're too interested in the night life in Rolling Meadows or they've wandered too far. The last time he did so was last night when he brought home a rabbit.

This makes Harvey to bring home his most of his does not let him. His ears come over his eyes, they're long, they're long, they're long. The children of the neighborhood are disappointed. For a few years he had brought home a rabbit with a bunny for Harvey.

Inc. has been a happy possession of the Linde for 12 years. She still isn't sure that Harvey belongs to the same house with her, even after his nine years as a star boarder.

Inc. and Harvey have their own little den in the bottom part of the back door of the house. They usually answer a call to come home but once in awhile, they're too interested in the night life in Rolling Meadows or they've wandered too far. The last time he did so was last night when he brought home a rabbit.

Attorneys Hear Crime Fighter

Fifty members of the Northwest Suburban Bar Assn. met in Mount Prospect Wednesday night at Cannon's.

Witness Attorney Francis Marshall, a member of the Illinois Crime Commission, was the guest speaker.

Several area judges were on hand for the meeting. They included Martin Peters, 3d district, Burton Kohnen, second district, Robert Chapman Bradley, second district, Arthur Smith, chief judge, 3d district, Irving Eisenstadt, 3d district, John Brunsell, second district, and Robert McCallister, of the Cook County Circuit Court.

The association presented word pictures of crime to the meeting and their judicial decisions. It is a growth to the President Judge Smith and to Attorney Marshall.

Representing Judge Sullivan was Judge Burton Kohnen.

Crazy Cat Harvey

There's nothing Harvey does or likes to do more than bring home baby rabbits. If Harvey had longer ears he could very easily pass for a rabbit. But Harvey is not. Sixteen pounds of fighting cat who thinks he's a rabbit, he is distinguished by all his black head and a black and brown around his eyes. Harvey belongs to Charles and Helen Linde of Rolling Meadows.

Whenever Alice talks about Harvey, she has to be careful. When she says, "Harvey's done home last night" to an unknowing listener, it sounds like a marital quarrel.

When she talks about some of the things he does, she has to be careful because they're hard to believe until she talks about the second cat in the family. Inc. has been a happy possession of the Linde for 12 years. She still isn't sure that Harvey belongs to the same house with her, even after his nine years as a star boarder.

Inc. and Harvey have their own little den in the bottom part of the back door of the house. They usually answer a call to come home but once in awhile, they're too interested in the night life in Rolling Meadows or they've wandered too far. The last time he did so was last night when he brought home a rabbit.

John Malmazian, assistant chief of the blind rehabilitation section at Hines Hospital, will discuss "The Blindness of the Blind" at a Monday, Nov. 14 meeting of area members of Delta Gamma.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lucy Somers, 404 S. Burton, Arlington Heights.

MALMAZIAN, a University of Illinois graduate, has been associated with the Veterans Administration since 1949 and is a part-time staff member at Western Michigan University. He has taught senior courses and conducted residential workshops for the blind.

Right conservation and aid to the blind is the society's national philosophy.

Jewels are the newest addition to the bathroom. Jewel trays are now available for faucets, shower valves, and tub spouts.
